Low Vision Rehabilitation Services

Is low vision compromising your quality of life?

Many of our patients come to us because they are experiencing difficulty with simple tasks such as:

- Recognizing a familiar face
- Reading because print appears broken or distorted
- Seeing objects and potential obstacles including steps, curbs, walls and furniture

We offer a wide range of services.

- Optical aid training
- Non-optical aid training
- ADL training
 - Community/Work reintegration training
- Progressive vision exercise
- Adaptive technology training
- Resource Management

Patients with low vision, or 20/70-20/200, as well as patients with visual perceptual issues due to stroke, traumatic brain injury, brain tumor or MS are appropriate for Low Vision Rehab at NRH.
