NAGA in conjunction with the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Charitable Trust, Professional Golf Association (PGA) and the United States Golf Association (USGA) sponsors nationwide “First Swing” seminars and “Learn to Golf” clinics annually. The one-or-two day clinics bring golf professionals, physical and recreational therapists, and the physically challenged together to teach, learn, and enjoy golf.

The first day of the program teaches the basics of the game to therapists and others interested in correctly teaching the disabled. The rules of golf and the singular differences presented by various types of disabled individuals are discussed. Participants are invited to swing a club standing on one leg, sitting in a wheel chair, using only one hand, etc., to better appreciate the demands that will be made on their educational training in teaching others. The second day is devoted to instructing the disabled participants attending the learn to golf clinic phase of the program under the supervision of NAGA instructors.

The First Swing Seminar and Learn to Golf Clinic are offered for free to all interested participants. To register or for more information, please contact Kathy Hall at 603-681-3057 or email khall@northeastrehab.com.

Lunch will be provided on Friday, courtesy of American Prosthetics and Orthotics.
